

'ROYAL' TROPHY—Hours of exhaustive practice maneuvers during the past months paid dividends last week for the Queens Guard, precision drill team of Rutgers University Air Force ROTC when the local unit was awarded first prize in a national competition at the Cherry Blossom Festival in Washington, D.C. Col. Walter S. Hammond of the University AFROTC, left, accepts the coveted trophy in behalf of the Air Science Department from Cadet Lt. Col. Leon A. Carpenter III, of 22 Sylvan Ave., Metuchen, commander of the drill team.
